Where It All Begins.

Welcome to the 2013 State Bowling Championships. The Iowa Farm Bureau is proud of your accomplishments and joins your family and team in celebrating a successful year.

Across this great state, Farm Bureau members, Iowans and athletes have a lot in common. A dedication to hard work, pride in their accomplishments and character rooted in faith and family. These values represent the heart of our organization, define each of us and make Iowa a special place to live, work and play.

They're the reason we will continue to champion our youth through educational programs and scholarships providing a wealth of opportunities for our state's most precious resource – our children. And they're why we work everyday to support and strengthen Iowa's communities by supporting and promoting family farms; providing access to affordable, quality health care programs; developing new renewable energy opportunities and more.

Farm Bureau is proud to be the sole title sponsor of the Iowa High School Athletic Association, Girls' High School Athletic Union and presenting sponsor of the Iowa Hall of Pride because they represent Iowa's proud traditions and our unwavering support for Iowa's youth.

So as you enjoy making more memories with your family at this year's State Championships, remember that Farm Bureau is here to support you every step of the way.

Doug has enjoyed 10-consecutive winning seasons with the Demons. He has received numerous coaching awards and was a finalist for National Bowling Coach of the Year in 2011.

Doug's family includes son Drew, fiancee Sara, sister Cecilia and family, and puppy Lacindra. Doug is the son of the late William and Martha Zimmerman.

where it all begins...

Remember your child's first step, first strike and that first hard lesson they learned in the lane? With your guidance, all of those character - building events helped shape their values and who they are today.

Farm Bureau members share those values through their hard work, accomplishments, teamwork and most importantly – family!

We believe our kids are Iowa's most important resource; after all, they're our future. That's why Farm Bureau is proud to support them through grants and scholarships that recognize their athletic and academic achievements.

So as you enjoy making more family memories at the 2013 State Bowling Championships, know that Farm Bureau is here to support you every step of the way.
